

Who Are Currency Online?

Currency Online - Moving Money Made Easy

Currency Online Limited is a member of the HiFX group of companies. HiFX provides comprehensive foreign currency services to businesses and private individuals around the globe.

Founded in 1986 initially as Elldridge Lynch and Associates, we specialised in providing foreign currency services to a broad base of importers, exporters and individuals with a need to transfer funds internationally.

Elldridge Lynch and Associates launched a leading edge online direct dealing platform in April 1997. This platform enabled clients anywhere in the world to transact and settle their currency requirements online, whenever the world's financial markets are open. This development was the catalyst for the business becoming one of the foremost online currency providers to both commercial companies and private individuals.

Competitive and consistent pricing, coupled with minimal transaction costs and most importantly our commitment to provide clients with an excellent and dedicated service, provides the opportunity for clients to conduct their business both efficiently and economically and closer to the advantages enjoyed by major corporates.

Elldridge Lynch was rebranded to Currency Online in April 2009 to clearly convey its customer value proposition. Currency Online Limited and the HiFX Group continue to be an innovator in its field and are committed to becoming the worldwide leader in the provision of online currency services.

The staff of Currency Online have between them a wealth of experience in international financial markets gained in both the corporate and banking fields. Each of our clients is allocated one of our Customer Relationship Managers who take specific responsibility for the client's business including execution of instructions and keeping them abreast of market movements.

What's the No Worries & Currency Online Connection?

No Worries and Currency Online work in partnership together under an affiliate agreement. Each company is separately owned and managed and neither party has any form of ownership or governance over the other.

We at No Worries are proud to introduce the money transfer service Currency Online offers to our clients, as both directors of No Worries has been using Currency Online for a number of years and believe it's the best foreign exchange service on offer here (after having done all the research – multiple times!)
